Dedication

To His Excellency

*Most Reverend
Edward J. Hunkeler*

Our Archbishop, and therefore the commander-in-chief of the Army of Youth in the Archdiocese of Kansas
City in Kansas, we respectfully dedicate this 1960 Trojan.

Foreword

On the pages of this yearbook are recorded the happiest days of our lives. These are days we so hurriedly spent serving our God in a vast "army of youth."

"An army of youth flying the standard of truth" has been our jubilant cry throughout these high school years. A jubilant cry we did shout and a joyful burden, the Cross of Christ the King, we did carry; and this holy Cross with its tragic loveliness adorns these pages. We have chosen the Benedictine Cross in tribute to the noble followers of St. Benedict who have trained us for the battle of Life.

Through the coming years of our lives, we will always recall, perhaps, with a trace of bittersweet joy, these days we lived so happily and completely as soldiers of Christ in the Army of Youth.

Religion, Humanities, Develop Ideals

Under the guidance of the faculty, Sts. Peter and Paul students seek the wealth of wisdom as they train intellects and wills for Christian living.

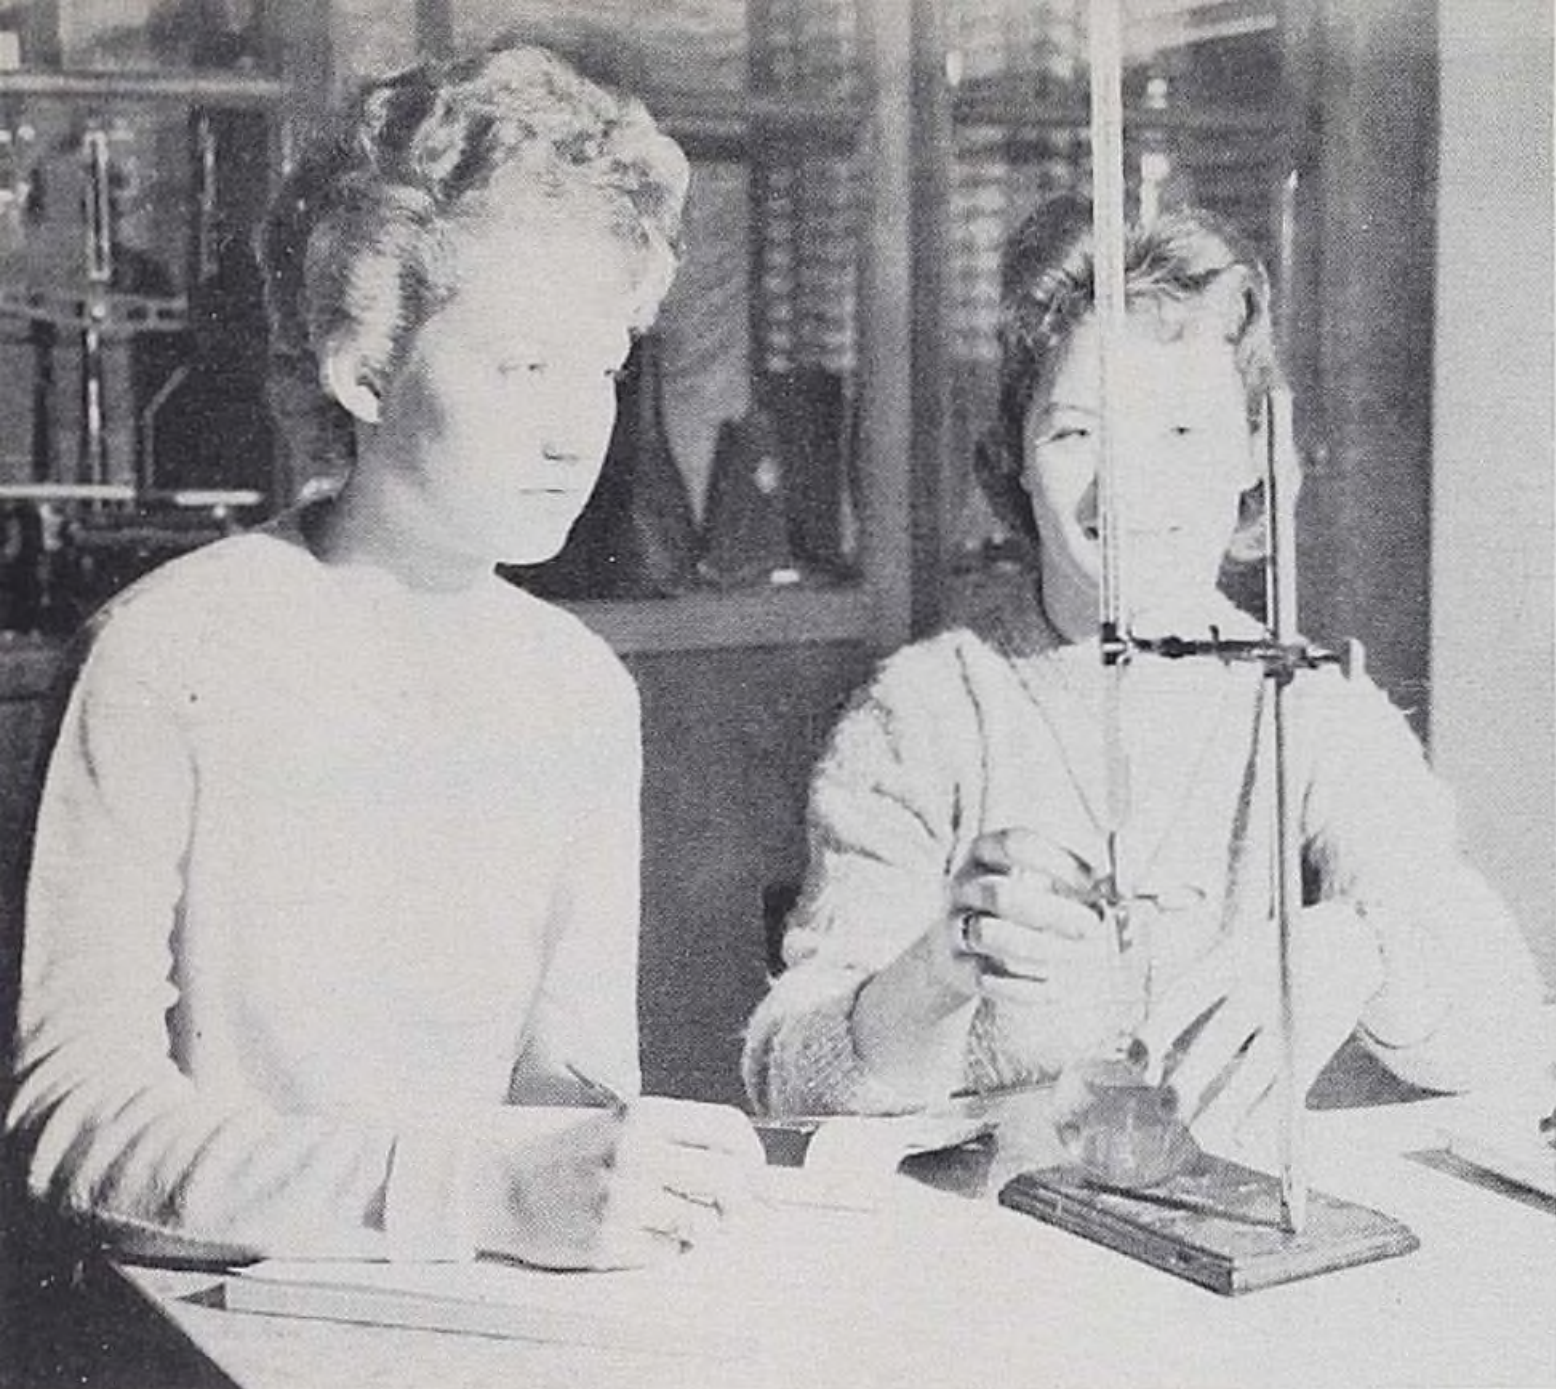

Gary Waller explains reasons for unhappy marriages on one of the panels of "Christian Marriage" given by the senior boys' religion class. Other members: Ken Boeckman, Doug Reicherter, and Ron Henry.

At left: Mr. May illustrates Christian principles of government for Charles Rosengarten, Paula Boeding, and Henry Mueting during a citizenship class.

Jerry Rottinghaus traces Julius Caesar's travels on the 20th century globe as Linda Gockel and Doris Mohlman compare with the map in the Latin textbook.

In the chemistry laboratory Elaine Mueting carefully titrates for neutralization of acid and base as Joan Conne records the results.

Intrigue Students

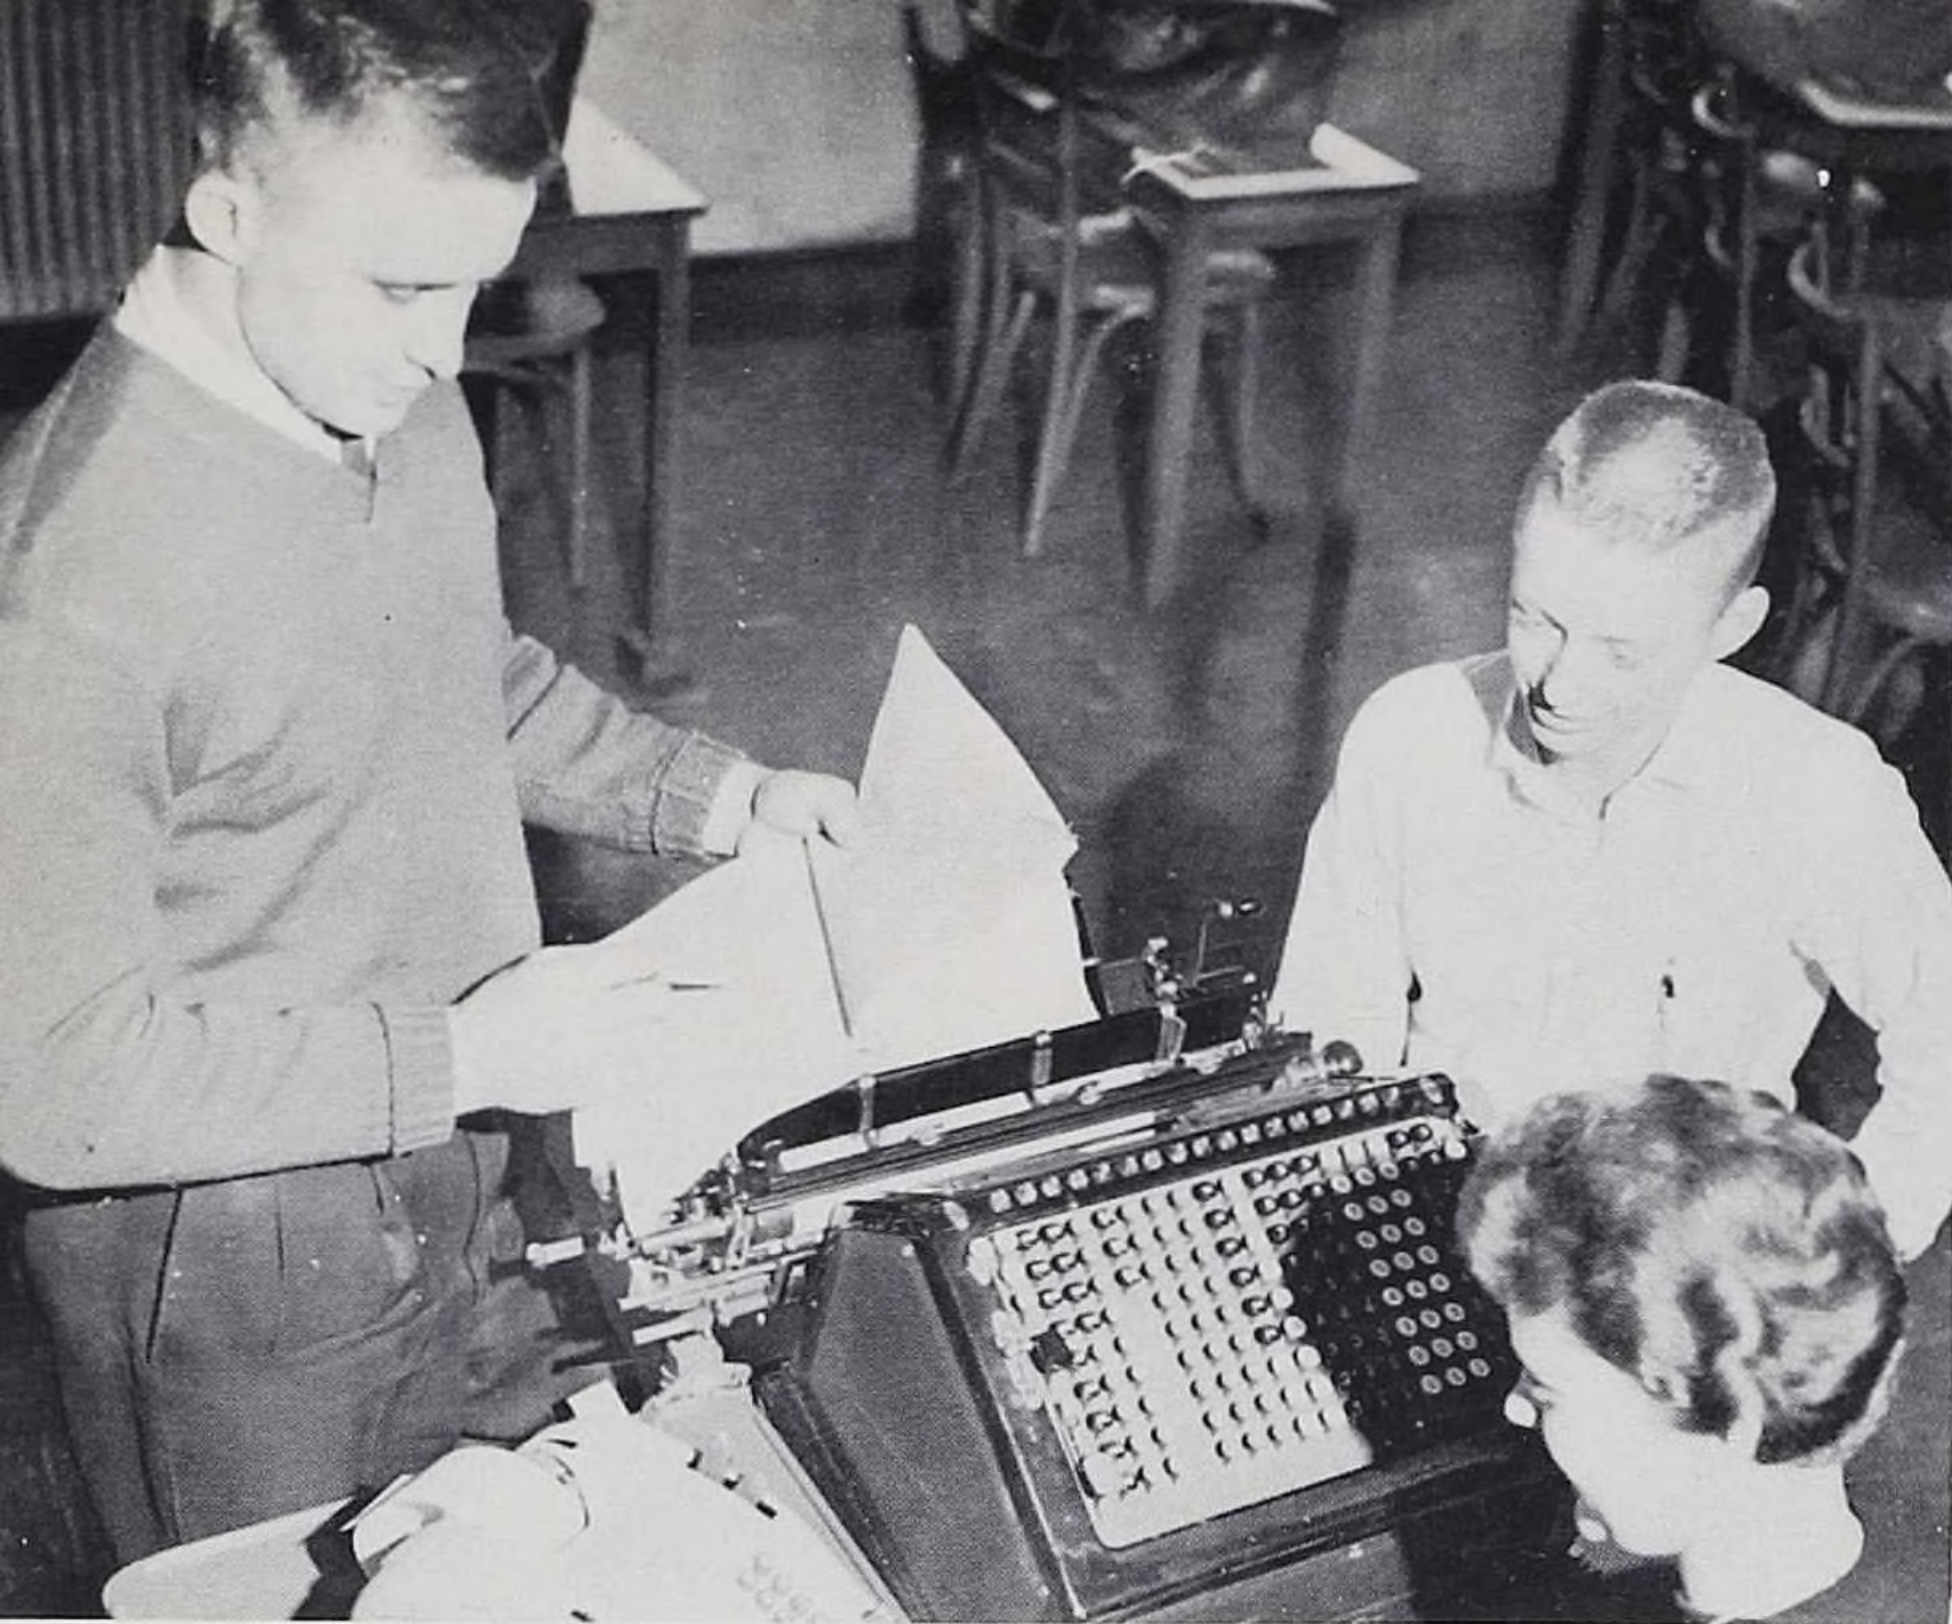

Carol Gormley and Jim Buser examine a starfish in order to answer the questions in their biology workbook.

Sharon Robke, Charlene Wilhelm, Tom Lang, and Bob Gruetze learn the intricacies of adding algebraic fractions.

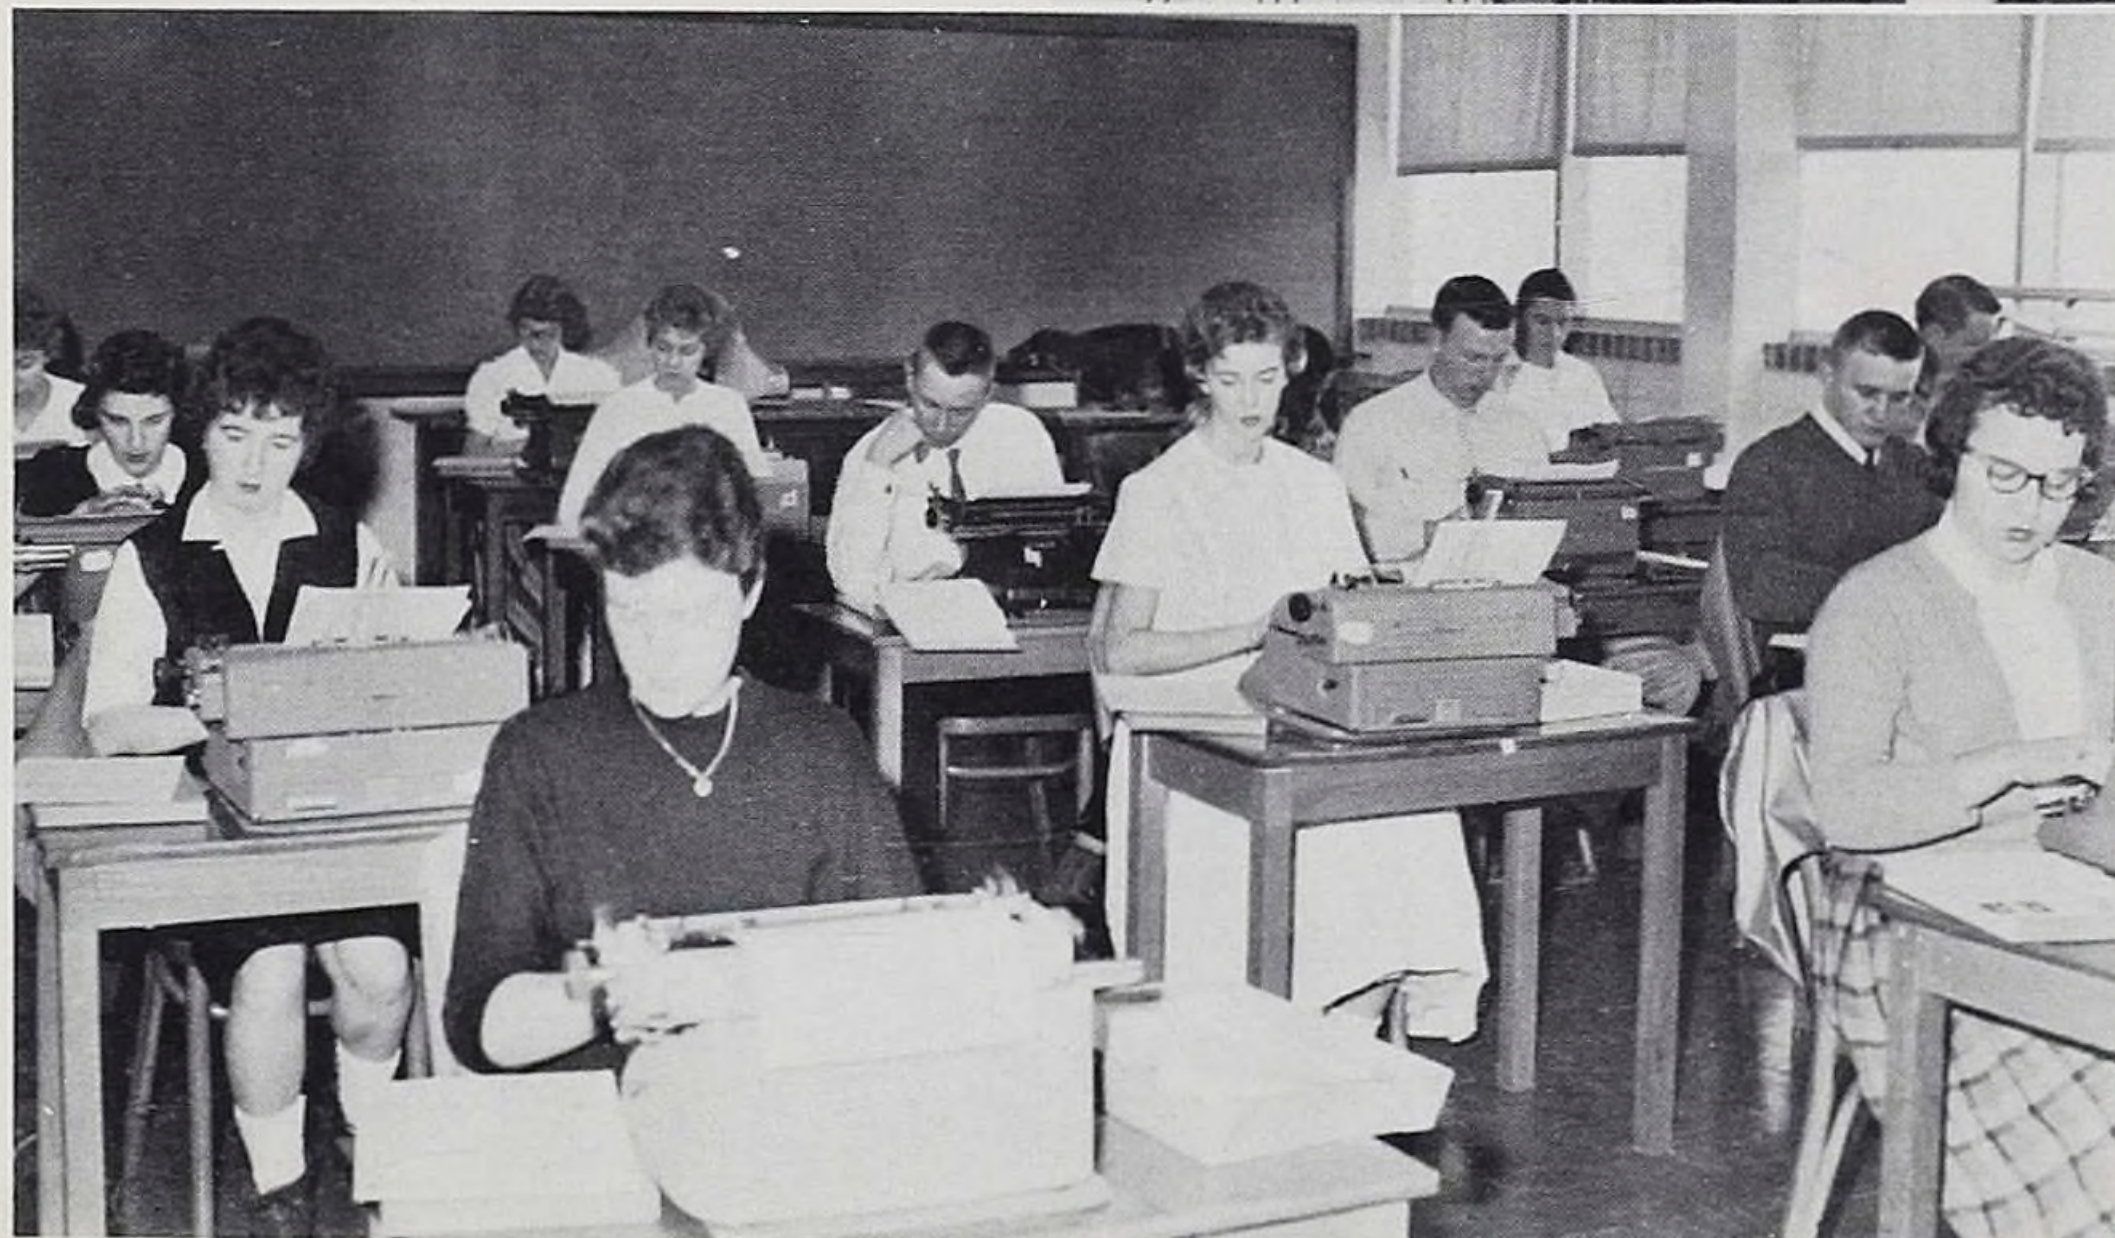

At the right, Jeanne Haug, Rich Hylton, and Dan Clements work on geometric construction problems while Leonard Haverkamp awaits his turn.

As Ron Henry dictates numbers, Marilyn Heinen totals columns of the bookkeeping worksheet with Jim Burdick looking on.

At right, Grace Kramer, Virginia Hurla, and Judy Boeding begin work on a new clothing project.

Some of the senior typing class are working on a problem while others are testing speed and accuracy on a time test.

Member of Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, plan the publications banquet. They are: Joan Koelzer, Kay Groff, Keith Mollohan, Joan Conner, Carole Gruetze, and Joyce Weber. Joan and Carole are briefing the new members.

Journalists Edit Paper, Annual

Busily cutting out a picket fence, Gary Waller, Ken Boeckman, Joyce Weber, Curt Gockel, and Jim Hollison add their handiwork to the prom's cause.

Work! Hard work, but pleasant work, occupied the attention of the prom-preparing Juniors. 3000 roses, a spotlight moon, miles of crepe paper, and willing minds and muscles went into preparing the 1959 Junior-Senior Prom.

Jerry Strohmeyer proudly displays the spotlight moon destined to shine on the rose garden.

"Moonlight"

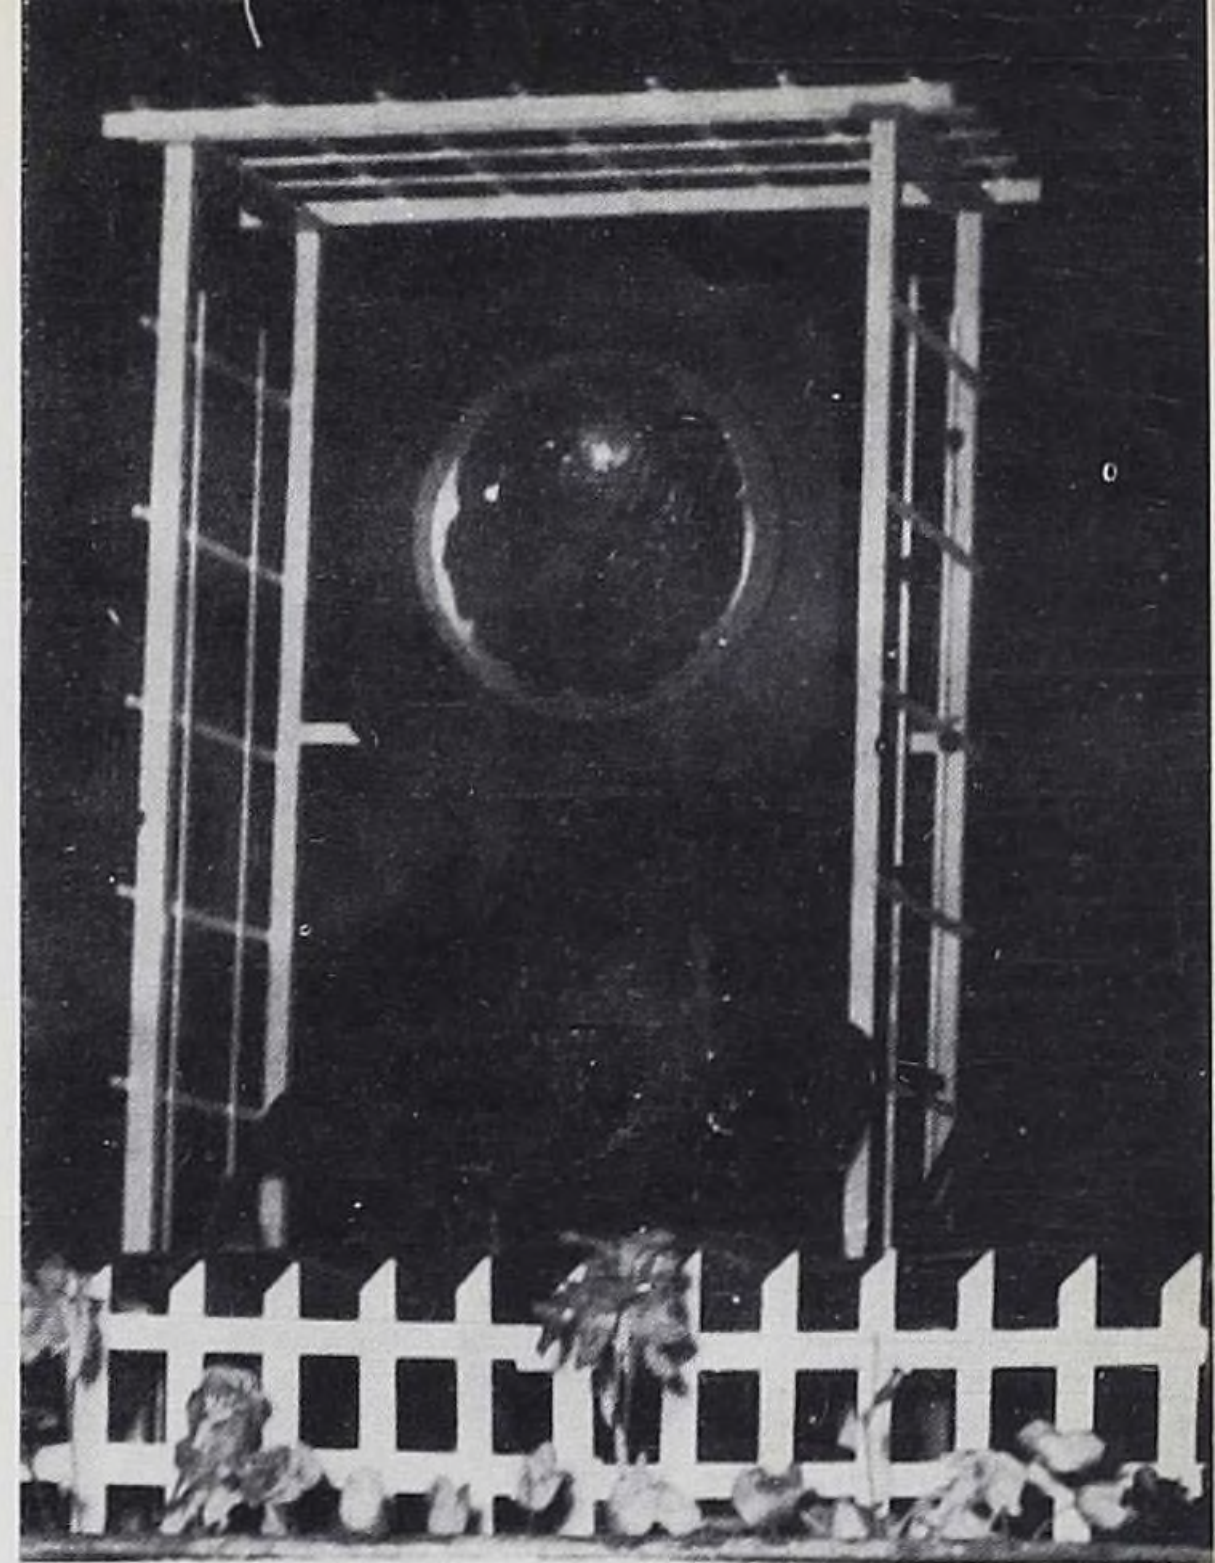

Passing under a rose trellis, dancers move into the beautifully decorated garden during the Grand March.

And Roses

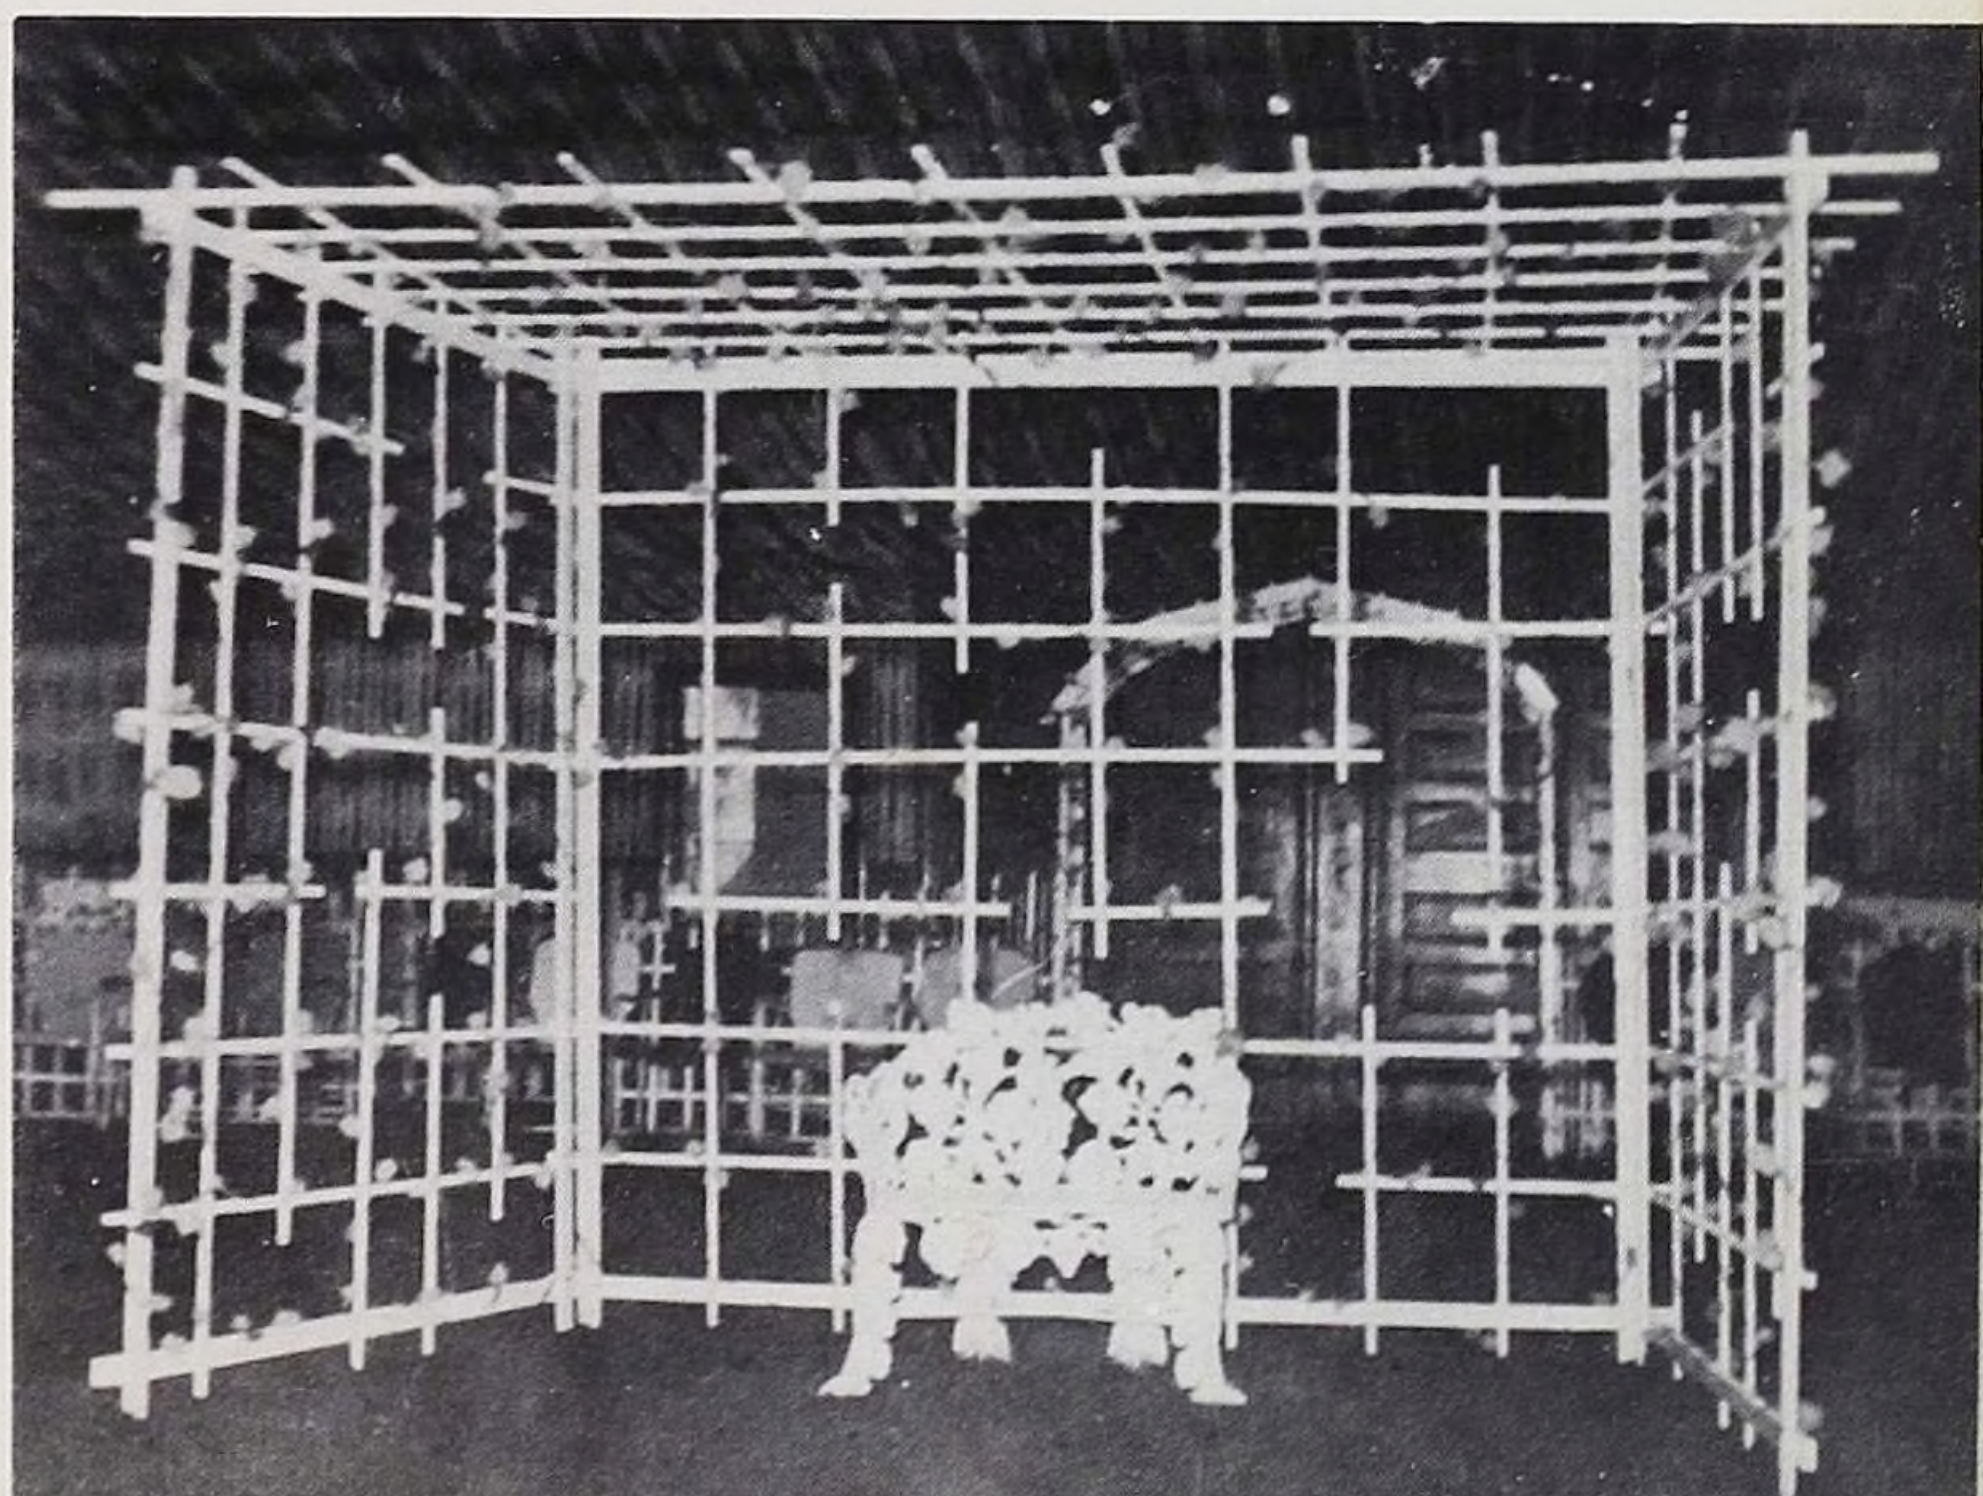

A rose-covered summer house proudly graced the center of the multi-colored rose garden.

Gracing the stage was a large revolving rose atop a white trellis.

After all the hard work, that enchanted evening passed all too swiftly as the Juniors and Seniors and their guests danced to "Moonlight and Roses" provided by the music of Bobby Layne.

"Let me look at you, it's been so long since I've seen you. Smile," Demands Marian Craven (J. Conner) of Rober Rook (K. Boeckman).

Seniors Present "The Green Man"

by G. K. Chesterton

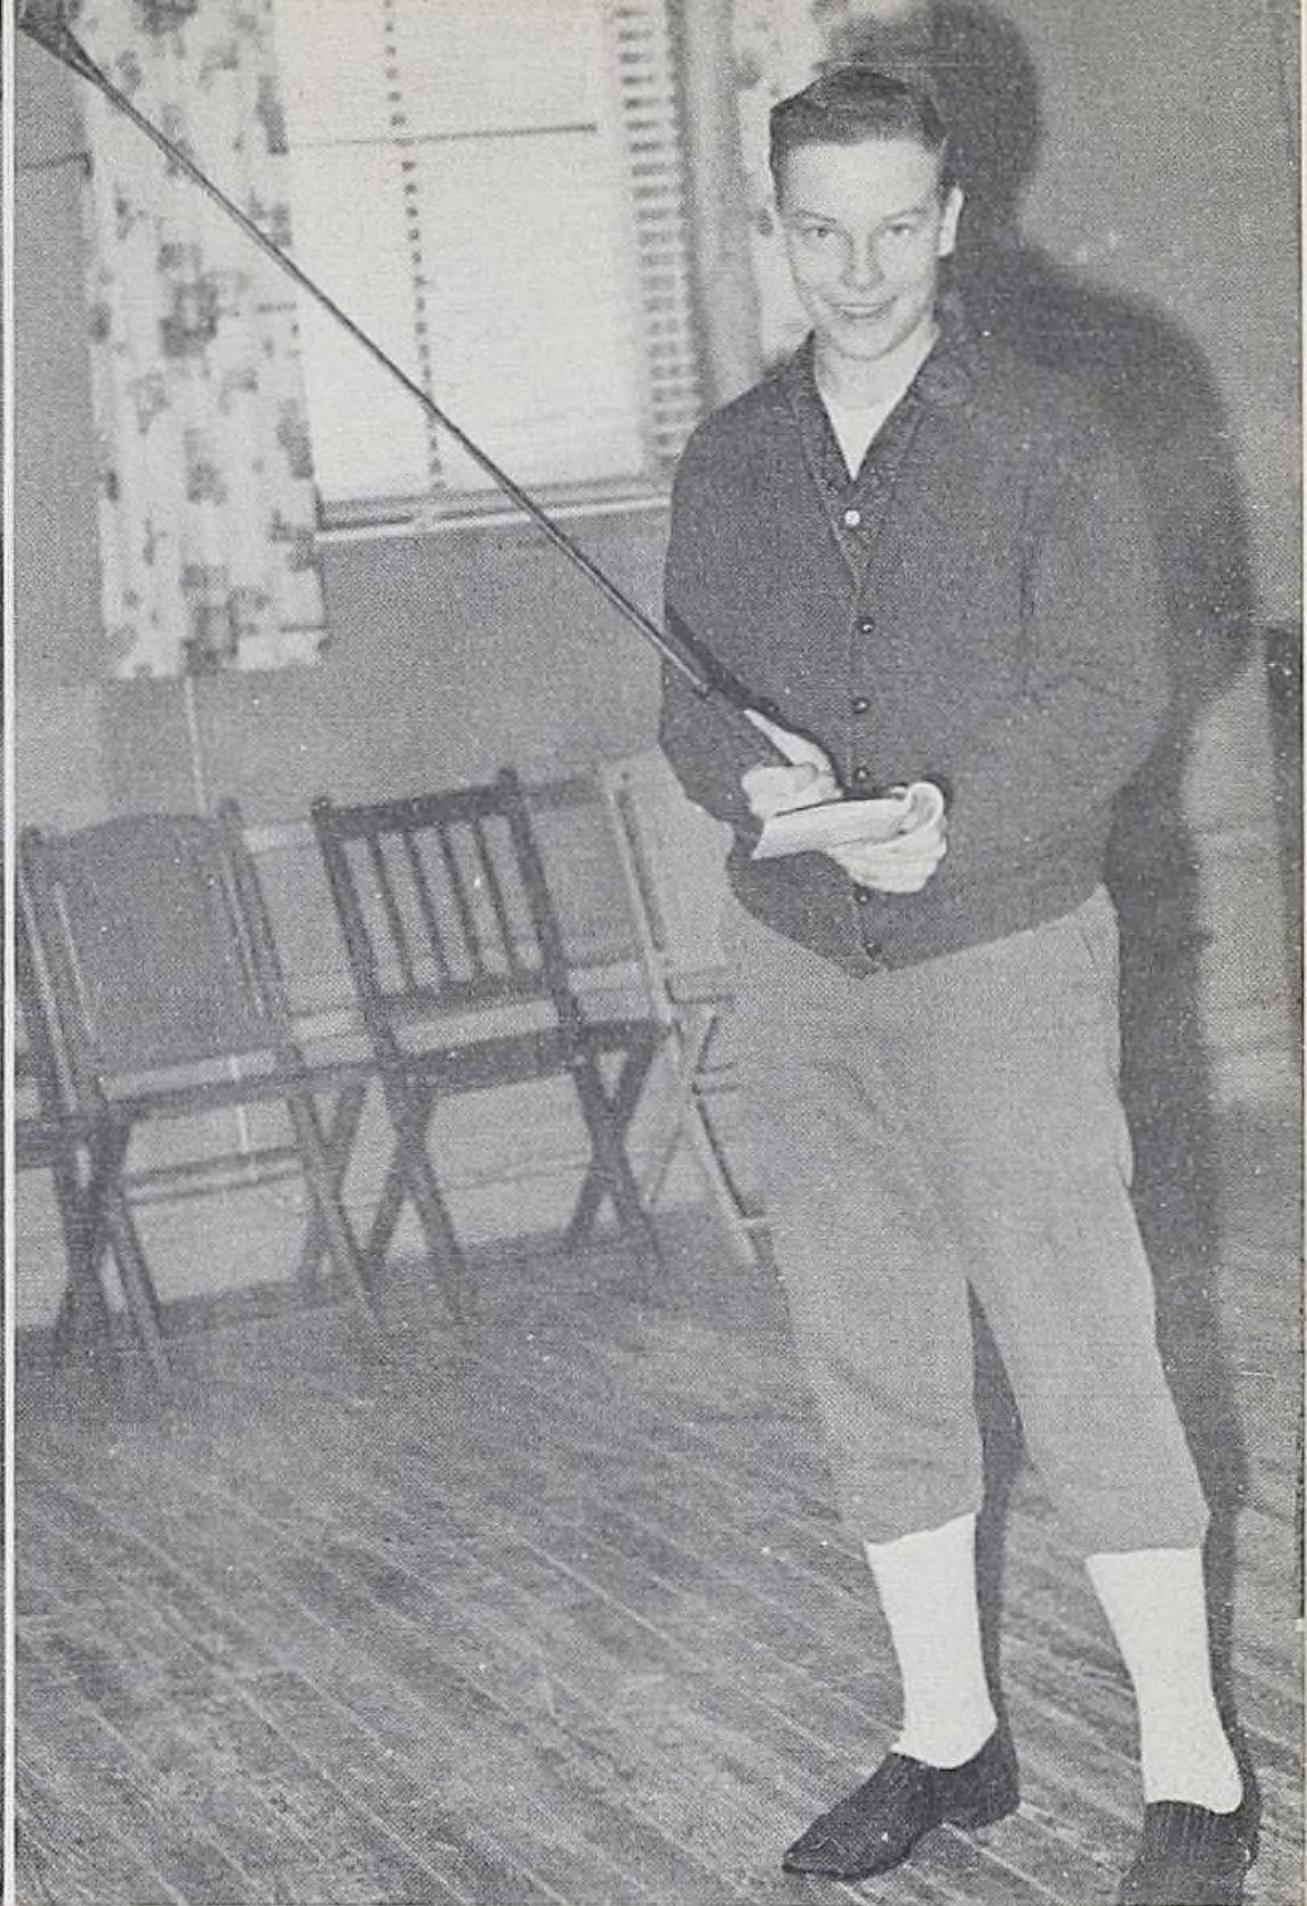

"You're the one!" shrieks Olive Craven (V. Hur-la) as she shakes her finger at James Dyke (E. Tromblay).

Father Brown (J. Strohmeyer) examines the evidence as Inspector Burns (M. Feldkamp) shakes his fist in excitement.

Annie Swallow (K. Groff) shows Iris (E. Rottinghaus) and Maudy (J. Stuke) through the peaceful "Green Man" Inn.

Harold Harker (K. Mollohan) tests the Admiral's golf clubs with instructions.

Father Brown plays the part of the patient priest as Dr. Straker (E. Lueb) checks his pulse.

Bessie (J. Weber) listens to Annie's final table-setting instructions.

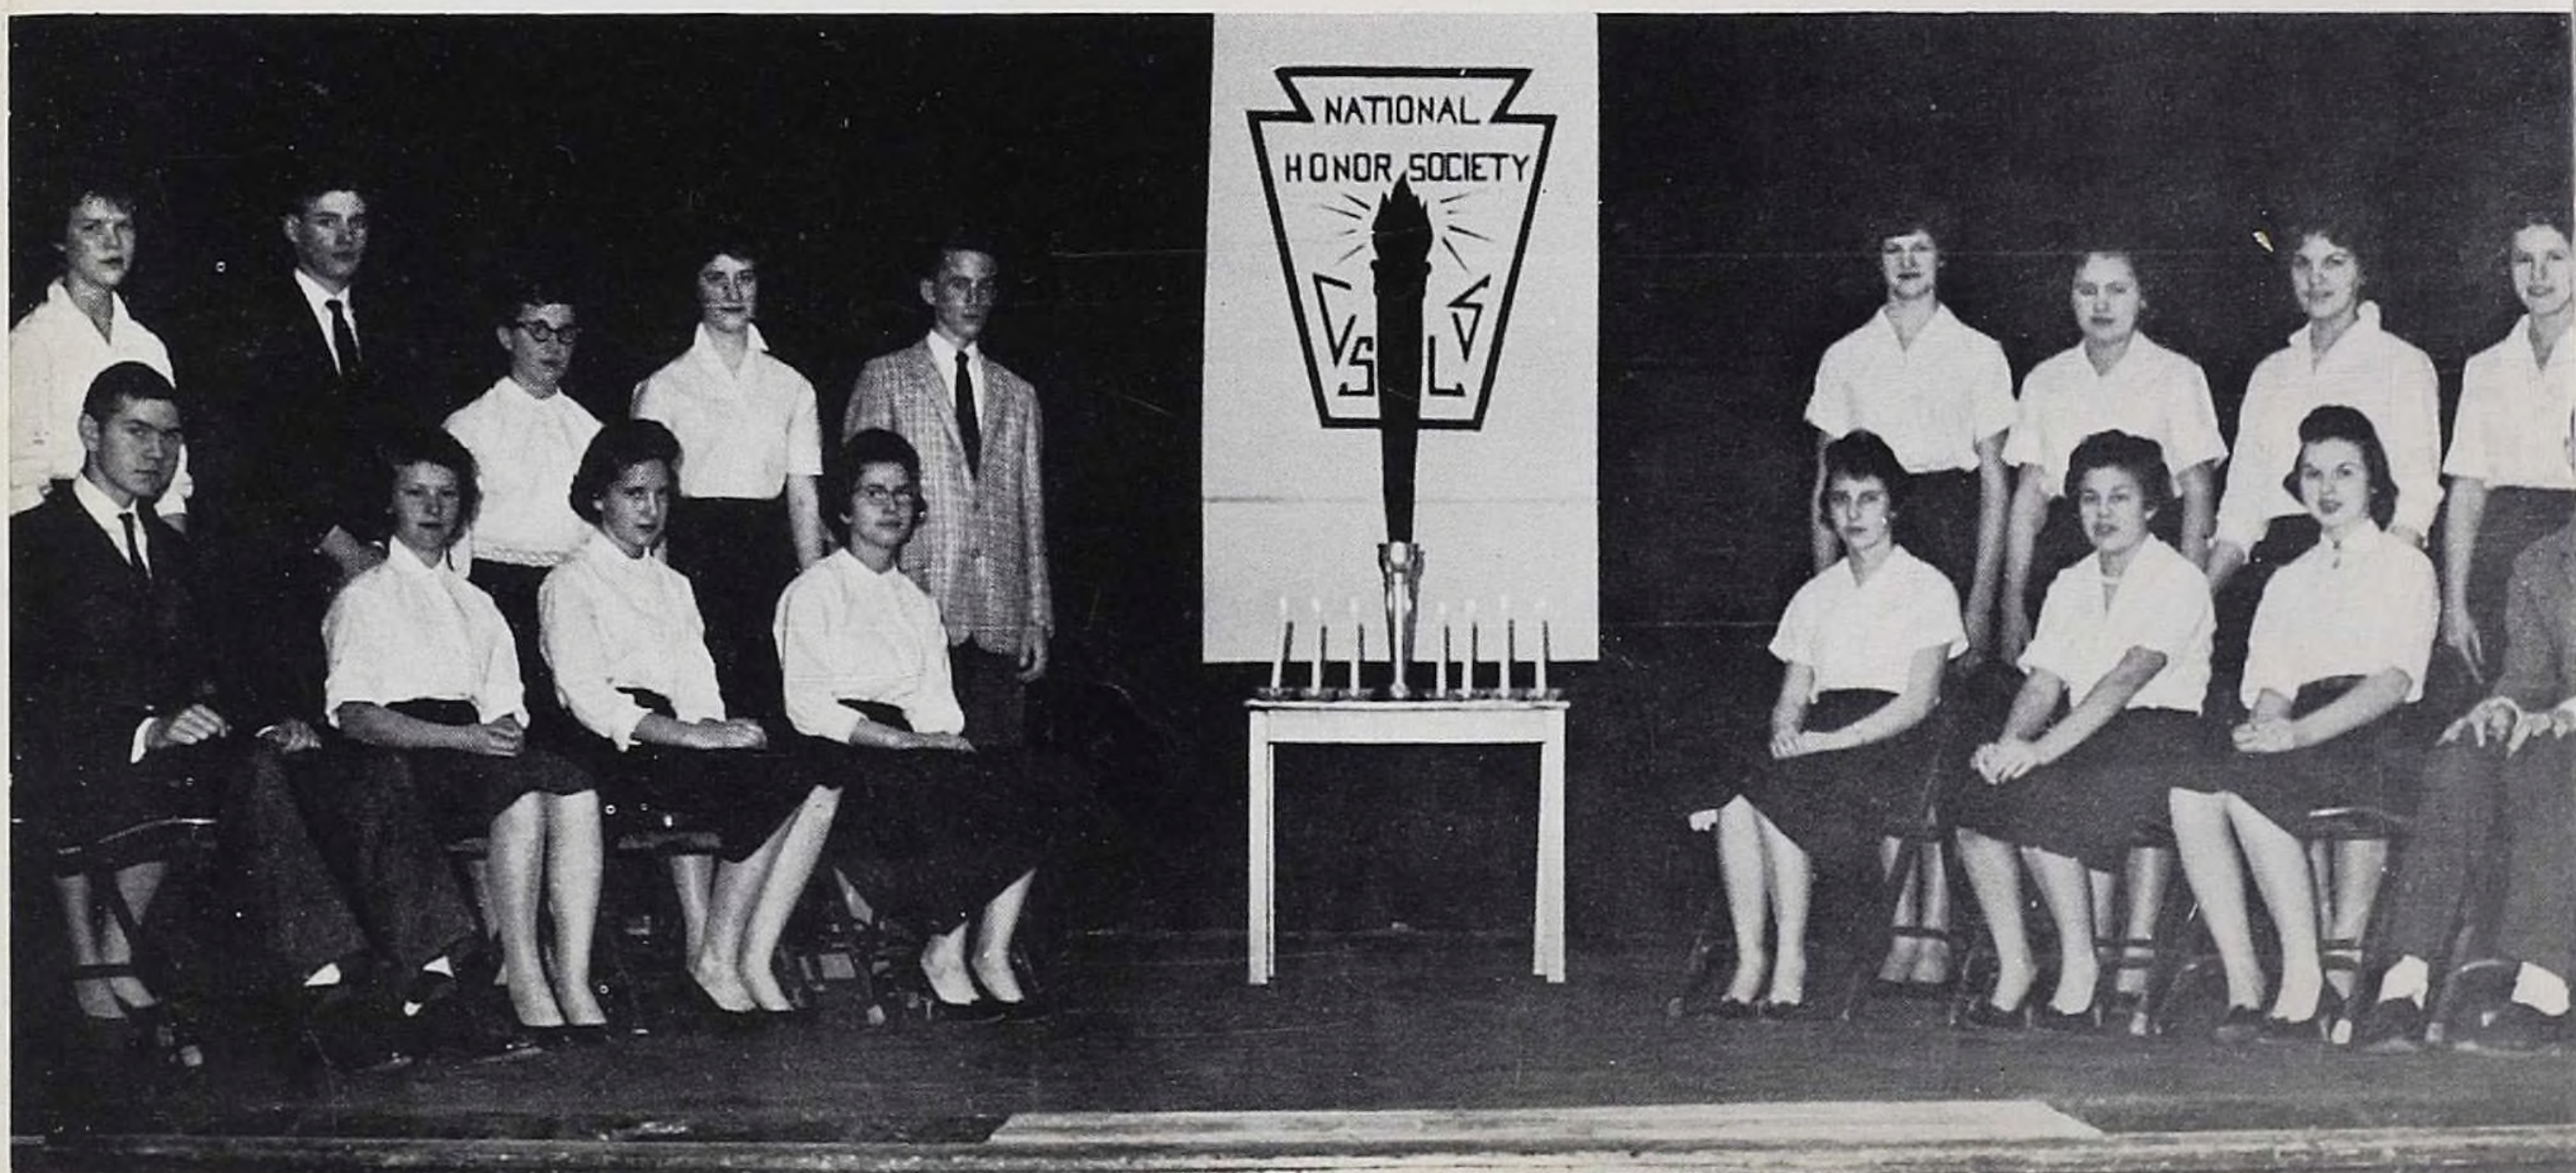

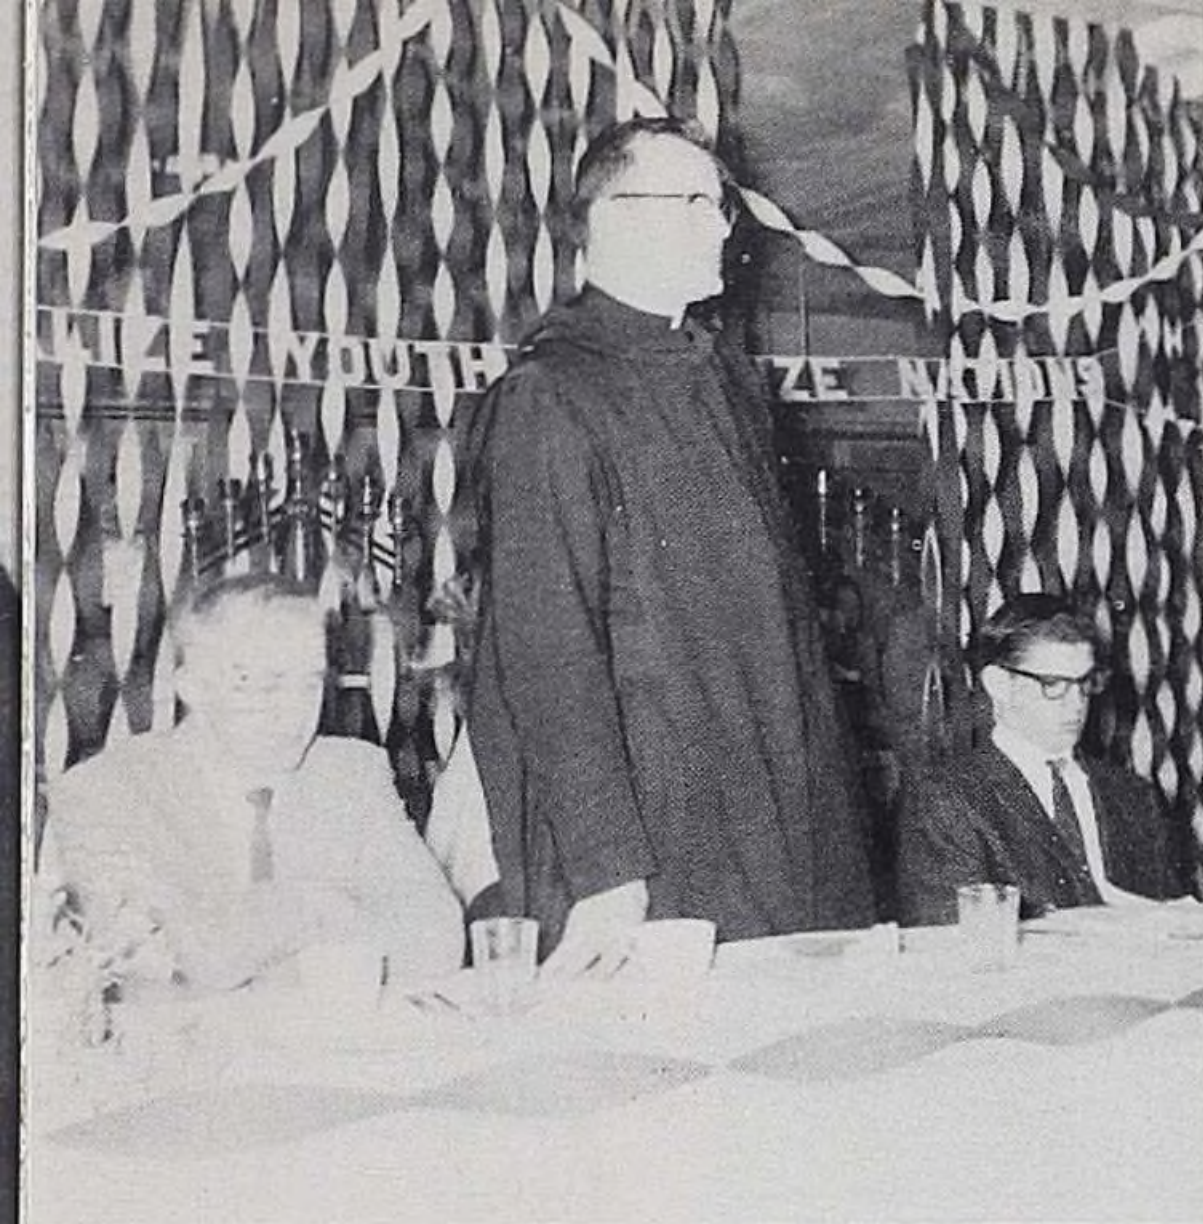

Rev. E. F. Roberts, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Baileyville, congratulates Hank Henry on the occasion of the National Honor Society Induction, Feb. 16. Other new members of the local chapter shown with the guest speaker are: Marian Holt-haus, Gary Waller, Marilyn Woltkamp, Joan Conner, Steve Mollohan, and Jane Gudenkauf.

Having become members of the National Honor Society at the 1959 spring induction, seniors Jerry Strohmeier, Kathleen Boeding, Carole Gruetze, and Juanita Koch, assisted the Rev. Basil Finken, O.S.B., with the 1960 induction at which seven new members were received into the Sts. Peter and Paul Chapter. Members are elected to membership by the faculty on the basis of the qualities: Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service.

Drizzling rain failed to dampen Trojan spirits as the Homecoming Pep Rally began at 1 p.m., Friday, Oct. 30, 1959.

On the quiz show given by the boys' speech class, emcee Curt Gockel (center) made contestant Nick Henry (upper right) pay a penalty for missing a question.

Having evaded a Hanover tackler, Gary Waller (22) stampedes on for another Trojan touchdown.

Prep Notes

Bill Mohr

LAST WEEK'S FOOTBALL ACTION WAS EXCEEDINGLY rough on four of the state's long unbeaten streaks. The longest one to go by the boards was Rossville's string of 31 games without defeat (29 wins, 2 ties).

The team that sent Rossville to its first defeat since 1956 was Sts. Peter and Paul of Seneca, a team that must rank as the chief giant killer of the year.

The Northeast Kansas Class B independent, 4-4 on the season, ended Onaga's 20-game win streak October 9, then last Wednesday night put the squeeze on Rossville, 7-0.

Coach of Week—

Breaking Streak Earns May Honor

By BILL MOHR

One of the big thrills a coach gets out of football, if he isn't working on a winning streak himself, is breaking somebody else's long string.

St. Peter and Paul coach Mathew May experienced the thrill last Friday night as his club whipped Onaga, 20-19. The win, besides snapping the second longest streak in the state (20 games), earned May the Daily Capital's "Coach of the Week" award.

May, who uses the split-T, said Onaga hurt his club early by switching to an eight man line. "They were shooting the gap and rushing our backs, so we switched to a tight T until they went back to a 5-4 defense, then moved into out split T again and got them."

Review '59 Grid Season

The SPPS football squad, coached by Matthew May and Terrance Sexton, finished the 1959 football season with a record of four wins and four losses. The season's record doesn't give due credit to our fine football team which won a well-earned reputation as "giant-killers." The two "giants" that the Trojans killed were Onaga and Rossville.

Before encountering the Blue and Gold, Onaha had a 20 game winning streak, and Rossville had a 31 game streak with 29 wins and 2 ties. Coach Matthew May won the Topeka Daily Capitol's "Coach of the Week" award because of the Onaga upset.
